JUSTIFIES SURFACING

The truly amazing amount of auto traffic to and from Holiday Lake so far this season is proof that this recreational center is definitely "made" so far as patronage is concerned. As many as 250 automobiles have gone in and out from Holiday Lake in a single afternoon. The graveled road makes the resort approachable regardless of weather, but the dust has been most objectionable. By another season the need for a hard-surface road to Holiday Lake will be obvious. The time to make request of the proper authorities for a hard-surface road is now. Next season will see as many as 5,000 persons per week-end visiting Holiday Lake. Electricity, a hard-surface road and availability of cabins for those who would like to spend the week-end .... these are the things next in line.

OUR BIGGEST PROBLEM AS A NATION IS TO REMAIN MORALLY AND FINANCIALLY SOLVENT IN A WORLD GONE MAD!

No problem facing the American people is more important than that of how to retain the social accomplishments of the New Deal, yet find the means of building up national defenses while balancing the Federal budget as a figure within the ability of the people to pay.

The Federal budget hasn't been balanced for nine years.

The Republicans unbalanced it and the boasts of the New Deal social accomplishments has kept it out of balance.

NOW comes the genuine need to spend at least TEN BILLIONS a year for five years for national defense alone.

Whether we like it or not WE HAVE to build a mighty two-ocean NAVY and maintain an Army of a million or more men, and MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL, we MUST have those 50,000 AIRPLANES the President talked about.

How can we ever pay the bill?

We've got to have all this—no one wants to neglect our national defense— but WHAT ABOUT THE BUDGET?

Some of those big and powerful bombing planes cost $300,000 each!

What would 50,000 cost?

Battleships cost upwards of sixty million each! We need twenty-five more!

Our "WAR BUDGET" this year will be between ten and twelve billion dollars. Next year it will be more.

The Times Virginian approves of this vast defense expenditure. But we think SOMEBODY should think about where the money is to come from.

President Roosevelt seems to think that national defense can be achieved without sacrificing the humanitarian accomplishments of the past seven years. Congress has tacked on small dribbets of new taxes— not enough to cover the bottom of the bucket.

They tell us that the money spent for national defense will reduce unemployment and raise the national income and swell tax receipts. They told us the same thing when they paid the Soldier Bonus! We've heard it repeated over and over for seven years! But still the margin widens between tax receipts and Federal expenditures.

FRANCE tried to keep its social security and humanitarian program while preparing itself for war.

LOOK WHAT HAPPENED!

France has lost everything and is erased as a first-class power.

France tried a 40 hour week while preparing. France tried social security— high wages. It couldn't be done.

Let us be neither an ostrich to bury our head in the sand, nor like chattering monkeys in the face of danger. Let us have the calm dignity of Valley Forge, and Appomattox.

Shame on us if to our present forty-five BILLIONS of DEBT we add another forty-five BILLION for national defense and make no provision for PAYREZ. Shall history record ours as the BUCK-PASSING generation?

In 1932 Federal taxes amounted to $2,005,000,000 and expenditures were $5,153,000,000. The national debt was 19 and one-half billions. The deficits did not start with the New Deal! They started under Herbert Hoover. The Democratic platform Roosevelt was elected on in 1932 pledged him, however "to accomplish a saving of not less than twenty-five cents in the cost of Federal government." But by 1936 Federal taxes had shot up to over four billions and expenditures to nearly NINE BILLIONS! And the debt to thirty-three billions!

Today Federal taxes have skyrocketed to approximately SIX BILLION dollars and this year the government will spend over TEN BILLIONS.

And be it noted that THERE IS NO PLANK IN THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM as to the BUDGET. Apparently OUR PARTY will depend for its majority on what an exchange calls "THE MENIALLY UNDER-PRIVILEGED!" How can any reasoning person expect us to believe that we can keep up the humanitarian and aid program that runs us FOUR BILLIONS a year in the red AND ON TOP OF THAT UNDER-TAKE A FORTY BILLION DOLLAR National Defense Program?

We are face to face with the toughest financial problem in our history. And in this situation, OUR PARTY'S platform says nothing except that we intend to keep on spending.

What is the SOLUTION?

THERE MUST BE AN EFFORT TO SOLVE THIS PROBLEM. We concede that the biggest argument against Roosevelt is his loose financial policy. It is the "Achilles heel" that may yet wreck an otherwise superb administration. The President had the courage to face every other major problem . . . why has he been afraid to face the problem of the budget?

We do not intend to be driven from OUR PARTY by hordes of new-comers whose ideas are different from our own. We believe America NEEDS DEMOCRATS WHO WILL STAY IN THE PARTY and try to keep it sound . . . needs that type more than thin-skinned Democrats who fly to the arms of the Republicans every time something goes wrong!

But back to a possible solution:

First of all we believe that the regular budget of the Federal government MUST BE UNLANCED. Even if to do so we must abandon some of the security program.

Second we believe that instead of DRAFTING hundreds of thousands of young men to go out and live in tents, peeling potatoes and learning how to march in beautiful columns while WAITING for tanks, guns and airplanes to be built . . . a wish that gives promise of being from two to four years . . . instead of that . . we should DRAFT at Army wages SKILLED LABOR to man the shipyards and airplane factories to give us the needed modern equipment. We realize that is a radical suggestion. We can hear now the HOWL John L. Lewis would set up were such a bill introduced in Congress. But we see no other way to get the needed equipment of defense.

WE CAN'T GO ON PAYING $300-000 FOR A BOMBING PLANE that HITLER can duplicate for $50,000! We can; go on paying SIX TIMES as much for armament as Germany pays for it. What's the common sense in drafting a million country boys to go out and live in camps at $21 a month, peeling potatoes and marching—while we pay World War wages to National Defense workers and run up ten billions more of debt a year? If you are going to DRAFT anybody, then in heaven's name draft THE FELLOW WE NEED MOST . . . the fellow who builds a TANK or an ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN or a DESTROYER! Such a draft would save us BILLIONS of dollars.

Third, the difference needed to balance each year's budget will just have to be made up in taxes, even if gasoline goes to forty cents per gallon and cigarettes to fifty cents a package.

These three points, then, we believe would help: balance the regular budget at once, reduce national defense costs by drafting the means of building that defense, and making up the difference in new taxes.

If we don't do something to solve our financial problem we are not on

but we will have arrived at a Dictatorship by 1945— and a Dictatorship would do things much worse for us than drifting labor:

OUR BIGGEST PROBLEM AS A NATION IS TO REMAIN MORALLY AND FINANCIALLY SOLVENT IN A WORLD GONE MAD!

If We Can Wait Until April

Gen. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff, opposes the proposal to enlarge the Regular Army beyond 500,000 men, which he hopes will be available by September first, but he urges that the National Guard be trained thoroughly because "it would be a most unfortunate thing" to throw it into service without preparation.

The General advocates that the Regular Army be increased to its contemplated 500,000 men and that the National Guard be augmented to 400,000. At the present the Army has 250000 men and the National Guard 230,000 members.

Declaring that Congress has given the War Department the "most generous" response in regards to material he insisted that trained personnel is necessary. Fifteen months, he thought, would be necessary.

In his testimony, the General suggested that 300,000 or 400000 men be drafted to round out the Regular Army and National Guard to their full strength, adding that "we would need about 400,000 more men next April . . . if we are permitted to wait until April." Otherwise "we may have to move April up to January."

Of course, the Army Chief of Staff advocates the selective service principle in securing the man-power necessary for the defense of the country.—Eastern Shore News.

Parties Without Rancor

Walter Lippman raises the question whether nations govern'd by two or more political parties, instead of one "can preserve their independence of their people."

So far we have succeeded here, on the whole, very well, with an informal and congenial system of two parties, plus a third just competitive enough to keep the major parties reasonably alert and respectable.

Opposite and horrible examples have been seen in the two or three dozen parties that afflicted Germany before Hitler swept them up, and a rather similar multiplicity of parties which has long been the undoing in France. It was French inability to concentrate in varied public issues in two or three strong parties which made it so weak in its recent tragic testing time.

Mr. Lippman, emphasizing that if democracy can't work here it can't work anywhere, repeats the old warning of George Washington against "Partisan fury." This is, perhaps, the most important time in history to show, by moderation of party rancor, that political democracy can really work. A contest is necessary, but it should be kept within the bounds of reason and fairness. —Alexandria Gazette.

Arrested Development

None of the old economic, social and political laws seem to apply to the United States. They were written for the Old World, not for America, or Uncle Sam is an inveterate scofflaw.

When Thomas Malthus a century ago propounded his theory that the population tends to grow faster than the food supply, and that starvation is nature's preventative for over population, he had plenty of proof. He could demonstrate his theory on several continents and in any century. But he was before the United States started doing the world over.

After undergirding a phenomenal growth in population the United States found itself with more food than it could eat or sell. Its production per acre increased faster from decade to decade than its population per block or mile.

Chia still knows what starvation and famine mean, but her situation is due more to undercultivation of the land and underdevelopment of her distribution system than to overpopulation, although parts of China are too densely populated, or were before the Japanese started making China over.

The people of the United States have nothing to fear in this direction, unless through atmospheric change the country were to become a barren desert. This land is still far from being overpopulated and its agricultural potentialities are far from being exhausted.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE TWO WAYS

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 1; Matthew 7:24-27.

GOLDEN TEXT—For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish.—Psalm 1:6.

The most important thing in life is living. That is not an attempt to make a striking statement, but a sincere effort to present a fact which too often escapes our attention. We are so concentrated upon making a living, or making money, or making a name for ourselves, that we often fail to make a life. God is more concerned about what we are than what we do.

There are only two ways—the right way and the wrong way. We build our life either on the true foundation or the false. There is no middle way, no half-good foundation. We must choose, and it is either one or the other.

I. Two Roads (Ps. 1).

Scripture is not at all concerned about mixing figures of speech, so long as the truth is graphically expressed and fully understandable. We speak of a man walking in the way, a tree planted by a river, the chaff of the threshing floor; and then returns to the figure of walking in the way. All of these present the same truth, for essentially the idea is that of the two ways in which men walk.

1. Choosing the Way (vv. 1, 4, 6). Even the choice of his way of life marks a man as either blessed or wicked. Some seem to think that they can choose or just drift into the wrong way and still have hope that all will be well. Their choice, or their failure to choose, has put them in the one class or the other.

Making a choice is a vital and serious matter. Let us do it carefully. Waiting in the counsel or philosophy of the wicked soon results in a man lingering in the way of sinners, and before he is aware of it he will find himself so at home, that he will sit among them and scoff.

2. Continuing in the Way (vv. 2-4). The choice will permit the love of God to control every detail of life night and day will never go out of his mind, and prayer in everything he does. Observe that to prosper does not necessarily mean to have money, position or recognition in this world. It means to be a success in the sight of God as He has given one to do.

Much that this world calls prosperity is nothing but an empty show, while at the same time some lives which do not and says have been wasted are prosperous in the sight of God because His will has been done.

3. At the End of the Way (vv. 5, 6). Every road of life comes to an end. "It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment" (Heb. 9:27). Ah yes—the judgment—what will it be in your life and in mine?

The wicked cannot stand in the presence of the divine Judge. All hold men, moral and social talk which went over so well before men, loses its flavor and the wicked man can only stand condemned. It is a dark and dreadful scene, but man need not go in the way which ends there, but may turn to God in faith and repentance.

II. Two Houses (Matt. 7:24-27).

Two men build houses evidently much alike, but we find that there is a great difference between them.

1. The Builders (vv. 24, 26). "Wise" and "foolish" are the builders, and what made them so was their choice of a foundation. No man can only wisely, but a man may seem to be in the learning of this world, if he rejects God's Word he is foolish and bound to suffer the loss of everything.

2. The Foundations (vv. 24, 26). The foundation of life is really everything. Built on the sands of human philosophy or personal desire and in the rejection of God's will, one has only cause for disaster. But—and here is a glorious thought —the Son of God says that if a man will hear His sayings and build on them, no storm can destroy his building. Blessed assurance!

3. The Testing (vv. 25, 27). The time of testing always comes. It may be early in life, or it may be delayed, but be certain that it will come. To believe in Christ it is only that—a testing, to prove that his house will stand. But to those who have rejected Christ the testing time brings dreadful destruction.
